Adopt Resolution For Elimination of Crossing*Action Asks Action "As Soon as Possible, Consistent with Laws of
New York State Governing Same."*SENT TO MAYOR*Resolution Directed to Mayor and Common Council—Cites Use by Members.

Kingston Council, No. 376, United Commercial Travelers, at a regular meeting held Friday evening, at the Governor Clinton Hotel unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the elimination of the Broadway West Shore grade crossing "as soon as possible, consistent with the laws of New York state governing the same."

The resolution calls attention to the recent accident in which two Kingston firemen lost their lives and recites the fact that many members of the U. C. T. use the crossing from one to 10 times every day and believe that it is a "menace to the lives of all having to use Broadway at this point." Support of the organization is pledged toward efforts to have the crossing eliminated. The resolution adopted is directed to the Mayor and members of the common council and is one of numerous similar resolutions adopted by organizations since the recent serious accident.

Following is the resolution unanimously adopted.

Kingston Council, No. 376, U. C. T. May 28, 1937.

To the Mayor and Common Council of Kingston, N. Y.

In view of the many accidents that have happened by reason of the West Shore Railroad, crossing Broadway, and that the junction of same has recently caused the death of two of Kingston's firemen, in our opinion this condition is a menace to the lives of all having to use Broadway at that point.

Therefore, we, the members of Kingston Council, No. 376, U. C. T., having a total membership of 245, do hereby ask that steps be taken for the elimination of said crossing as soon as possible, consistent with the laws of New York state governing the same.

Practically every member of our organization uses this crossing from one to ten times every day, so we call upon you to use every means in your power to have this danger eliminated and furthermore we pledge our assistance as traveling men to stand back of the efforts made to protect the lives of the public at large.

MERLIN R. SNYDER,
Senior Councilor,
W. C. DUTTON, Sec'y.

Attack on Communism
Elmira, N. Y., May 29 (AP)—The state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America was stirred today by a sharp attack on Communism and the "beginnings of collectivism in America," voiced by the Most Rev. William Hefey, bishop of Raleigh, N. C. Declaring that non-Catholics must be brought to realize that Communism is more than anti-Catholic, that it is anti-American, Bishop Hefey at the same time repudiated the implication that the church is reactionary in its attitude. Mrs. Margaret Tynan of Poughkeepsie, state regent, is presiding over the convention.

Pope 80 On Monday

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, May 29 (AP)—Pope Pius XI, who will celebrate his 80th birthday Monday, received hundreds of pilgrims today. Among the Pontiff's callers was a group of 30 Italian-Americans headed by the Rev. Father Giles Rutolo of New York. Pope Pius' vigor which amazed former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, during an audience Wednesday, has been considerably revived by his month at the summer palace. He has acquired a slight sunburn and seems generally more robust.

Volumes of Testimony

Elizabethtown, N. Y., May 29 (AP)—Volumes of testimony taken during legal proceedings in three states, all bearing on Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green's disputed claim to a share in the millions left by her husband, the late Col. Edward H. R. Green, were dropped into the lap of Surrogate Harry E. Owen today. The Essex County jurist brought to a close yesterday hearings that began last fall in Port Henry, N. Y., extended to New York city, Texas and Florida and wound up in this Adirondack hamlet.

Will Visit Hyde Park

Washington, May 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt will depart late tonight for a two or three-day visit at his mother's home at Hyde Park, N. Y. The President has not seen his mother since his 55th birthday party at the White House on January 30. She hurt an ankle in a fall sometime ago, but has recovered and is planning a trip abroad this summer.

"Catholic Victory"

Geneva, N. Y., May 29 (AP)—The New York legislature's refusal to ratify the Federal Child Labor Amendment was described today by a Knights of Columbus official as "one of the greatest victories for Catholic thought."

Mother Pulled Plow This Way, Say Children

The children of Mrs. Jodie Davis for whose death her husband, John W. Davis, mountain farmer, is held in Woodbury, Tenn., show how, they charge, their mother was forced by Davis to pull a plow which he guided. The first theory was that Mrs. Davis might have died from the effects of the plow-pulling, but a coroner's jury decided death was due to an illegal operation.

At Hospital Today;
Funeral on Tuesday

HARRY P. DODGE

Harry P. Dodge, 55, widely known musician of this city, died this morning at the Kingston Hospital, where he recently underwent a major operation. Funeral services will be held from the late home, 63 Green street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Wiltwyck cemetery. Mr. Dodge is survived by his wife, the former Olga Hauck of this city. Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., Mt. Horeb Chapter, No. 75; Roundout Commandery, Cyprus Temple of Albany, the Kingston Club and Twaaliskill Golf Club. Mr. Dodge was organist at Trinity Episcopal Church in Saugerties.

Mr. Dodge was born February 12, 1882. Mr. Dodge had devoted his entire life to music, and was widely known as a pianist and organist. He served as organist of St. James M. E. Church in this city for a number of years, and was also organist in one of the large Poughkeepsie churches while in late years he has served the Saugerties church.

Not only was Mr. Dodge known as an organist and pianist but he was also widely known as a director of singing clubs and for several years he was director of the Mendelssohn Club of this city, and he had also served as director of the Saugerties Glee Club. Mr. Dodge was also an instructor in music and some of the leading pianists and organists of this vicinity are former pupils of his.

For years he was an active member of the Kingston Rotary Club and was active in the years of its formation, serving as one of its first presidents.

Final Trials Today

Indianapolis, May 29 (AP)—Sobered by the death of two men and injury of five others in accidents which marred a quest for new speed during preliminary test runs, drivers returned to the brick and asphalt track of the Indianapolis motor speedway today for final qualification trials. In two quick thrusts, death called a halt in qualifying runs yesterday as drivers sought to fill the one remaining vacancy and possibly shove several pilots already qualified out of positions in the starting lineup for the 500-mile race Monday.

No Divine Parade on Memorial Day, Reports
Police Chief Wood Today

Police Chief J. Allan Wood when asked today whether there would be a parade of Father Divine's cohorts on Memorial Day said that no application has been made. "Therefore, this year there will be no parade," the chief said.

Last year when the "angels" marched to the Chapel street "heaven," application had been made and arrangement were under way three weeks ahead of time. It was reported earlier in the spring that Divine would lead devoted disciples by the thousands through the city streets to his local paradise. Since then reports have given way to rumors, which in turn have dwindled.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, May 29 (AP)—The position of the treasury on May 27: Receipts $14,705,796 17; expenditures $15,908,338 06; balance $1,759,454,859 14; customs receipts for month $42,635,799 51. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,401,986,305 25; expenditures $6,770,421,265 96; including $2,567,201 10 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures $2,368,434,870 71; gross debt $35,206,622 01; a decrease of $23,570 74 under the previous day; gold assets $11,978,435,118 71, including $747,113,520 35 of inactive gold.

Six Persons Injured

Baltimore, May 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania railroad wrecking crews today cleared away wreckage left in the yards here following derailment of seven cars of a Washington-bound express. Six persons were injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment late last night but four were discharged early today. The other two were held for observation but are not believed seriously hurt.

$100,000,000 Hoped For

Washington, May 29 (AP)—Revenue authorities disclosed today they hope to transfer $100,000,000 from the pockets of tax evaders to the federal treasury. The officials, spurred by President Roosevelt's broadside against wealthy tax dodgers, agreed on a two-way program of precaution and evasion-proof legislation.

Resolution Withheld

Geneva, May 29 (AP)—Spanish government objections today blocked consideration of a League of Nations resolution condemning foreign intervention in the Spanish civil war. The Valencia regime apparently regarded the expression, drafted last night by members of the council, as too weak.

"Regenerated" Church, Nazi DesignGoebbels' Speech Threatens Expulsion of Catholic Clergy, Foreshadows Church Severed from Vatican Authority, Charges Decadence of Morals.

Berlin, May 29 (AP)—The oratorical attack of Joseph Paul Goebbels, minister of propaganda, on the Catholic Church was believed today possibly to foreshadow a Nazi move establishing a "regenerated" German Catholic Church completely severed from the authority of the Vatican.

Millions of Germans were stirred to intense speculation by Dr. Goebbels' speech, broadcast throughout the Reich last night, which threatened widespread expulsion of the Catholic clergy and accused the clergy of a "general decadence of morals."

The fact that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's personal mouthpiece, Voelkischer Beobachter, prominently displayed Goebbels' quotation of Napoleon concerning suppression of non-asteries gave weight to rumors that drastic measures were not far off. The concluding words of the Nazi minister's unprecedented attack were studied closely for a clue to National Socialism's next move in its bitter dispute with the Catholic Church.

"I speak in the name of thousands of decent priests who—as countless letters addressed to me clearly indicate—view with heavy hearts the grievous decline and decay of the church," said the government press chief.

"I venture to express the hope that out of the midst of these very circles a regeneration will come and come so quickly it won't be too late," he declared.

The passage was interpreted variously to mean either that the German hierarchy was being given a last chance to "regenerate" the church along lines amicable to the totalitarian state, or that plans were complete already for a "regenerated" church cut off from Rome.

Fierly little Goebbels, apparently speaking with the full weight of the Nazi party behind him, spoke before 20,000 in the great Deutschland Hall.

His speech was a reply to the American Cardinal Mundelein's criticism of German church immorality trials, but most of his time was occupied with threats against the entire Catholic hierarchy in words which some German newspapers said were aimed "over Mundelein's head straight at the Vatican."

Goebbels threatened to call high churchmen to testify under oath. If they continued their "slander" of Nazi justice in criticizing the publicity given trials of numerous churchmen on charges of sexual offenses,

$25,000 Repairs Scheduled,
Long Range School Program
Offered by Education Board*Duke Ready to Fight
King's Decree; Said
To Be 'Mad and Sore'

Monts. France, May 29 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor was reported today to be in a temper and "ready to fight" the decree of his brother-successor which barred Wallis Warfield from the title of "Her Royal Highness."

He was described as "mad and sore!" and the source at the Chateau de Candé said it was impossible to predict what action Edward might be contemplating.

It was said the former British monarch, who abdicated when Britain refused the Baltimore divorcee as Queen, at first would not believe London dispatches telling of last night's disclosure of the decision.

Convinced finally of their truth, the slim, blond Edward who will wed Mrs. Warfield at Candé next Thursday, then declined to consider the decree—or the decision of the British government behind it—as final.

It was indicated he might take action to reopen the question, which he had thought settled in his favor before the civil marriage next week but the procedure of such a course was not disclosed.

How the dark-haired Mrs. Warfield took the decision was not disclosed but it was reliably said that "H.R.H." and coronets had been embroidered on some articles of her elaborate trousseau.

"Wedding Present"

The "government's wedding present"—as Windsor's friends termed the royal decree—assured to Edward himself for the first time, the "title, style or attribute of royal highness" but ruled that "his wife or descendants, if any, shall not hold the said title, style or attribute."

Save for description of the Duke's attitude by anonymous "chateau sources" there was no representation of the former monarch's feelings. Norman L. Rogers, spokesman for Edward and his fiancée, said in a tired voice, that, on the Duke's instructions, he could not comment.

Under the decree by George VI, who succeeded Edward to the throne last December, Mrs. Warfield's marriage would make her simply the Duchess of Windsor—not "Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Windsor"—and would move her many steps down from the social position she had expected.

Several days ago the couple's spokesman had announced, after Edward's long undercover argument with London, that Mrs. Warfield definitely would gain the highly valued three little words of title although Edward's instrument of abdication barred himself and his heirs forever from the throne.

The Duke's associates said he still desired that a semblance of official recognition be accorded his marriage by the presence of his youngest, favorite brother, the Duke of Kent, at the wedding.

London "Stirred Up"

London, May 29 (AP)—The British government's action in denying Mrs. Wallis Warfield the courtesy title of "Her Royal Highness," stirred a controversy today similar to that of last December when the Duke of Windsor quit the throne for romance.

While some rejoiced in a decision that meant they never would have to curtsy to the Duke's bride, others thought it was "shabby treatment" and looked to the new premier, Neville Chamberlain, to relax the "isolation" policy of his predecessor, Stanley Baldwin.

Observers agreed that while King George promulgated the decree forbidding his brother's future wife to use the title, apparently it was a result of one of the last acts of Baldwin, who waged the battle that ended in Edward's abdication.

Building Committee Under New Board
President Begins Laying Plans to Improve and Enlarge School System to Meet Present and Anticipated Needs*COMPREHENSIVE REPAIR PROGRAM*Thorough Investigation of Various School Properties Reveals Need of Many Repairs to Old Buildings and Equipment

Advocating a long range comprehensive plan for school improvements in the city of Kingston a special committee, appointed a month ago, reported to the Board of Education at its regular meeting Friday evening and as a result of the action taken the Building Committee of the board will contact Mayor Heiselman and members of the Common Council and form some plan for temporary relief from congestion in the grammar schools and also the high school. At this same time the matter of permanent relief will be taken up and a program which will take into consideration the present need, the ability of the taxpayer to pay and the needs of the future will be discussed.

Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the special committee, which also included Trustees Feeney and Schmid, made a report which was discussed very thoroughly and then adopted on motion of Trustee Katz and referred to the Building Committee for action and a later report back to the board.

The report of the special committee, which stated that P.W.A. aid through a Federal grant apparently was out of the question, indicates that some immediate step must be taken to relieve conditions at No. 6 and No. 7 grade schools and the high school and the report further states that a "comprehensive plan with a view to future needs, present educational trends and the financial condition of the city" should be approved and worked out over a period of years.

The report of the committee follows:

Girls of Part Time School Pay Visit to County Court House

The Saturday morning girls' class of the Kingston part-time school had a most interesting experience this morning when they were taken through the Ulster county court house and jail and had the workings of county government explained to them in detail.

The class, in charge of Director Robert J. Service, first visited Judge F. G. Traver's office, where they met the judge, who explained to them the workings of Children's Court. Then they visited the county treasurer's office and met County Treasurer Pratt Bolce, following which they visited the supervisors room, where Mr. Service explained the duties of the supervisors and the difference between the county legislature and the common council of the city.

In the court room, upstairs, the members of the class were told of the various steps in the prosecution of those charged with crime—the making of a complaint, grand jury investigation and finally the trial. The girls occupied the various offices that would be filled during a trial, one of them occupying the judge's bench, others filling the jury box, clerk's station, court officers positions, etc.

A trip through the jail, under direction of attendants from the sheriff's office, completed the educational tour. It was explained to the class that not all those confined in the jail were necessarily guilty, that under the law a man is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty.

The tour was part of the social study course given the class, a course, according to Mr. Service, "designed to develop self-supporting, decent citizenship."

6 Deaths in New Mexico

Albuquerque, N. M., May 29 (AP)—Six deaths were counted today as the toll of the greatest flood in New Mexico's history, produced by heavy rains for the past 48 hours. Motor traffic across the northern part of the state was almost paralyzed. A dozen bridges were swept away. The Rock Island railroad transferred passengers and mail at Newkirk where a trestle went out and Santa Fe trains between Albuquerque and El Paso were rerouted because of washed out track.

$150,000 Gift Denied

Athens, May 29 (AP)—The ministry of instruction denied today a report that Athens had received a $150,000 gift from the late John D. Rockefeller for construction of a museum to house findings of American excavations in the ancient Athenian market place. An announcement of such a place. An announcement of such a place.

incident appeared in the Athens press on Sunday with Rockefeller's death last Sunday as official, but the ministry said no funds had been received for the purpose.

Special Committee's Report.

Your special committee on the problem of school congestion and suggestions for action of the Board of Education, reports as follows:

The correspondence and conference with P.W.A. office indicates that a Federal grant is almost entirely out of the question.

The committee recommends that this Board of Education formulate a new plan immediately to meet the problems of our city schools—this to take into consideration both the high school and the grammar school needs. It should be a comprehensive plan with a view to future needs, present educational trends and the financial condition of the city.

The committee is of the opinion that additional school facilities should be provided by construction, and, if necessary, temporary quarters be rented while plans are being developed and while construction is in progress.

To advance the necessary steps immediately this committee suggests that the "Building Committee" be empowered to confer with the city officials for the solution of the financial problems involved, and to obtain such other information as it deems necessary and report its findings at the earliest possible date to the Board of Education for its consideration.

Kingston, N. Y., May 21, 1937.

Progressive Steps.

Another progressive step which the board took at its meeting Friday was the receipt and action taken on a report made by the Building Committee relative to the elimination of "fire and traffic hazards" at various of the public schools.

The Building Committee gave a very complete and enlightening report on conditions about the various school buildings and grounds and made recommendations for improvements which may total from $25,000 to $28,000 if all are carried out.

First among the recommendations was that fire hazards at schools be eliminated. These consist mainly of bad exits and lack of proper fire prevention facilities in some of the schools. The committee suggested that "panic bolts" be placed on all exit doors, that all doors leading from buildings be fitted to swing outward, that additional fire escapes be erected on schools where needed and that certain changes be made in interior construction, furnace rooms and other places where fire hazards exist.

As to traffic hazards the committee reported that in congested traffic places there was a real danger from traffic to school children and it was recommended that at such points steel fences be erected about school grounds to prevent children from dashing onto public streets except at gateways. This condition exists, it was pointed out, at both No. 6 and No. 7 where traffic is heavy. This item of fences is one of the larger items to be considered this summer and included in the building are also numerous other improvements which can be completed during the summer recess of schools.

The Building Committee's report, given by Trustee Feeney, was one of

Grand Dance Revue Staged By Pupils Of Weyhe-Riccobono

The pupils of the Emilia Weyhe and Ottilia Riccobono School of Dancing staged a spectacular and colorful "Grand Dance Revue" last night at the Broadway Theater before a large audience. The program featured a large variety of musical and comedy skits to six acts had a cast of some 30 girls and boys.

The audience warmly applauded the singing and dancing specialty numbers, especially the soft shoe dance, "Doin' the Suzie Q." and the dance, "Doin' the Suzie Q." in Act I; Gilbert Smith's song and dance in Act II; the comedy tap dance in Act III; and the Japanese group dance and Oriental dance in Act IV; the Character tap dance which opened Act IV; and La Ballerina in Act V.

In the opening ensemble a group of girls called "Our Funsters" sang the greeting song with William Mellett, Jr., and his trumpet. Then came a solo dance, "Jolly Cow Girls," by Marion Britt, assisted by Elaine Rhee, Barbara Wetherbee, Betty Jordan, and Ann Molyneux. Next was a song, "I Have Plenty of Nothing," sung by Eddy Weyhe, Eva May, and Lillian Gleason. The dance, "Daughters of Iregave a tap duet, and Mabel Brewer and Ethel Land, and the soft shoe dance, "Bauer gave the soft shoe dance, "Doin' Gladys Avery's song and dance, "Doin' the Suzie Q." was followed by Tillie Garber's buck dance and Teddy Weyhe as Eddie Cantor.

The second act showed the abilities of the tiny tots of the studio. Dickie Van Bramer opened the act with an Indian dance. Then followed Gilbert Smith and Joyce and Richard Hoban in the two dances which were well received of the group. Barbara and Buddy Jones as the organ grinder and the beggar girl gave a tinge of a dance act and then came Jean Osterhoudt, "Tapping Along With A Cane." Jean Osterhoudt and Dickie Van Bramer returned to do a valse d'opéra.

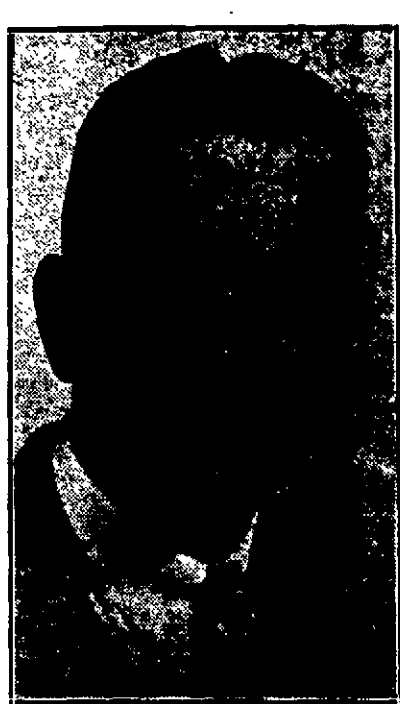

The highlights in the recital were the third and fourth acts in which the settings and costumes were most attractive. In a rich, oriental setting, Mildred Ludwig, Virginia Rist, Edwina Schultz, Carolyn Rider and Laura Schoonmaker gave a Japanese group dance and then formed a picturesque background for the oriental dance by Natalie Winters. These numbers in this group were "The Classics," a toe dance by Mabel Brewer, and a tap routine by Ethel Land. The comedy was afforded by the skit, "All About A Professor" in which Eva May, Lillian Gleason, Leo Herbert and Teddy Weyhe took part.

In Act IV, Marion Britt again appeared, this time as an Indian princess with the same supporting group as in Act III. In contrast, "Tillie Garber gave a gypsy dance and Gladys Avery and Lois Parry were seen in a Tyrolean folk dance duet.

Act V, a pink and white ballet, was again a chance for the youngest members to face their public. The same group who appeared before danced in the minuet and ballet scenes. They were assisted by three older girls, Lillian Gleason, Eva May, Lillian Gleason and Dorothy Lawrence.

The "Wedding of Jack and Jill" constituted the final act and the wedding procession and striking costumes made a fitting ending to the recital. Practically the whole dance team were present for the wedding ceremonies of Ruth Britt as Jack and Marion Britt as Jill.

Approximately 28 couples enjoyed the dancing in the lavishly decorated ball room. Preceding the dance, Dr. and Mrs. Chester Van Gaasbeek were hosts at dinner for 28 people.

Report Of Secretary Of Junior D. A. R.

The following annual report has been submitted by Miss Mary Hubbard, secretary of the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter D.A.R. held seven regular meetings and one special meeting from October, 1936, to May, 1937, inclusive.

Miss Catherine McCommons, chairman present and presided at each meeting.

Miss Frances Robinson was absent at only one meeting.

The group has 31 members and the average attendance has been 12 members.

There has been one resignation that of Mrs. George Robinson.

Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey, chapter advisor of the Junior Group, and Mrs. William Anderson, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, were present at each meeting. Miss Louise W. van Hovenberg, organizing regent of Junior Group, was also present at a number of meetings.

The Junior Group is very grateful to the members of Wiltwyck chapter who gave interesting talks at the monthly meetings: Mrs. William Anderson, Miss Sarah Hasbrouck, Miss Louise van Hovenberg, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden and Mrs. Rose K. Witter.

The hostesses who very kindly opened their homes to the Junior Group for social hours were Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey, Mrs. C. Ray Everett, Miss Catherine McCommons, Mrs. William Shuler, Mrs. John Garon and Mrs. Clair Shearer.

On November 5, the Junior Group held a successful cake and candy sale at the chapter house. In December the group had charge of the Ellis Island Christmas tree at which time $6.45 was collected as well as a generous donation of gifts from Wiltwyck Chapter and also from Sarah Barton Murphy Chapter of Farmington, Mo., the latter made possible by Miss Margaret O'Sullivan. Also in December, a photograph was taken of the group for the D. A. R. magazine.

In January, Mrs. William H. Pouch, organizing secretary general of the National Society, D. A. R., was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting, at which time the group also entertained the officers, the local board and the board of trustees of Wiltwyck Chapter.

On February 1, the group held a successful card party at the chapter house, at which time the $20 for the Approved Schools was earned.

Members of the Junior Group assisted at the Wiltwyck Chapter luncheon in October, the guest day on Washington's Birthday, and at the luncheon for the New York state regent in May.

The Junior Group made a gift of $10 to Wiltwyck Chapter on Washington's Birthday for the purchase of silver forks for the chapter house.

Several of the Juniors took part in two plays presented by Wiltwyck Chapter in April at the chapter house and at the Tuberculosis Hospital.

The group received from Mrs. Pouch two silver baby spoons decorated with the D. A. R. insignia which were to be presented to the first babies born to Junior members.

The first of these spoons was presented to Mrs. Floyd Ellsworth. The group is keeping a record of all children of members.

The Junior Group made its final meeting of the year an open meeting to which all members of Wiltwyck Chapter were invited.

Throughout the year the Junior Group has endeavored to study the activities of Wiltwyck Chapter and to be of service to the chapter as a whole.

The young musician will be assisted by John Walker, violinist, and Winifred Entrott, vocalist. The public is invited to attend. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be received.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church of Elmendorf street will sponsor a food sale Friday, June 4, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Pirie, 168 Tremper avenue. Anyone desiring to contribute is requested to leave the donations at Mrs. Pirie's home by 10 o'clock.

Lutheran Choir To Present The Cantata "Daughter Of Jairus"

On Sunday evening, June 6, the choir of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will present the sacred cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," the music of which was written by John Stainer. The cantata will be preceded by a short reading of the story by the Rev. Russell Gaele. The service will begin at 8 o'clock and will last about one hour.

The story of the cantata is very familiar to Bible students. Jairus, one of the rulers of the Synagogue, came to Jesus and besought him to save and heal his daughter, who was at the point of death. Jesus, seeing the great faith of the man, went to the house of the ruler, where all was tumult, wailing, and sadness because of the death of the young girl. Jesus said, "Weep not, for she is not dead but sleepeth." Upon entering the home, he dispersed the doubting crowd and bade the girl arise and

WEDDING GUEST AND BRIDESMAID

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his fiancée, Ethel du Pont, are shown as they attended one of New York's outstanding society weddings. Miss du Pont was one of the six attendants for Ann R. Foster, who became the bride of Thomas Le Boullier III.

Camp Wendy Rally Will Be Held June 5

The annual rally that is held in preparation for the opening of Camp Wendy, the girl scout camp, will be held on Saturday, June 5. All girl scouts should plan to spend this day at Camp Wendy, and interested parents who are considering the idea of sending their daughters to the camp for the summer may avail themselves of the opportunity to inspect the facilities of the place. Children desiring transportation should telephone Mrs. A. DuBois Rose not later than Tuesday.

The regular summer session of Camp Wendy will open on July 3 and continue through August 28. It is sponsored by the Ulster County Girl Scout Council with Helen Hasbrouck as chairman of the camp committee and Lillian Parrish, camp director. The camp is located on the Borden estate near Walkill and comprises 50 acres of open and wooded land and a fine lake. The camp is divided into six units according to the ages of the girls, and activities include swimming, camp fires, nature hikes, scout craft, archery, camp craft, handicraft, games, boating, canoeing, folk dancing, singing, star gazing, dramatics, pioneering, trail-cooking, story-telling, and various other sports and youth building programs.

Pat was about to take his holiday, and decided it would be a good idea to buy a car.

The enthusiastic salesman pointed out all the advantages of the latest models, and Pat was very taken with a modern two-seater. The salesman, to clinch the deal, finished off his praise of the car:

Salesman—Just think, sir, you can step into this car and in two hours you'll be in the mountains.

Pat (looking worried, and shaking his head)—Bogorrah, I'll not be buying that one, then.

Salesman (surprised)—Why not?

Pat—Because I'm going to Chicago this year.

Broadway: "A Star Is Born." Brightened by the new Technicolor and directed by the rising William A. Wellman, here is a true and searching story of the Hollywood film factories and of the people who grasp for stardom, find it and then slip back into oblivion. The plot deals with a matinee idol who is past his prime and of a young girl tasting the first thrill of recognition in the picture industry. The entire production centers around the people who make pictures and takes you behind the scenes. Actors, directors, producers and extras are all part of the plot in this play and there is an arresting quality about the show that is a mixture of human ambition and human failure. Janet Gaynor and Frederic March, in the starring roles, contribute two notable performances and a star studded cast includes Adolphe Menjou and Lionel Stander. A United Artists picture that is a hit play from start to finish.

Kingston: "I Promise To Pay" and "Silent Barriers." The screen's present day desire to expose something or other is again brought into the clear in the first of the Kingston offerings, a play that attempts to show the rottenness of the loan shark racket. The picture is pretty melodramatic and it shows how people can be trapped and cornered by the slick loan profiteers. Chester Morris, Leo Carillo, Helen Mack and Thomas Mitchell are featured in this Columbia Picture. "Silent Barriers" is the other full length attraction with Richard Arlen starred.

Orpheum: "You Only Live Once." Grim and bitter and completely tragic is this well played drama of an innocent boy who goes to prison to pay for a crime with his life and who manages to escape and become a hunted thing to be tracked down by the law. There is no humor in this play, only a wonderfully acted and staged story of a boy and a girl caught in an unkind fate. Here is a production worth seeing despite its tragic aspects and Henry Fonda and Sylvia Sydney live their roles as the ill-starred boy and girl who eventually find peace in death.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Way Out West" and "Night Key." The two fun boys of the screen have made another full length comedy in the first attraction at the uptown theatre and it is a show filled with gags, queer situations, moments of real hilarity and a couple of places that drag considerably. Mr. Hardy and Mr. Laurel go west this time and the scenes take place against the background of the old west, when men were tough and life was hard. The Laurel-Hardy combination makes the most of a thin plot in this one. "Night Key" is another attraction from the Universal studios, a thriller with Boris Karloff starred.

Orpheum: "Mummy's Boys" and "Trail Dust." A comedy and a western thrill drama are to be seen at the Orpheum. The first is a story about Egypt and of two gentlemen who get tangled up in the tombs of ancient kings and also in various harems during the course of the action. Robert Woodsey and Bert Wheeler are co-starred in this show. "Trail Dust" is the other attraction, a Hopalong Cassidy tale that bristles with action and excitement.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious shooting to death of Judge Blinshop, my old flame, opens our stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunt. After a series of strange attacks, we find the body of Michael's aunt father below the bluff. Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder and then nearly dragged to death with sleeping powders. The Skipper, Mike's tall, tweedy younger aunt, disappears. Cook gets "doped to the gills," and we find proof that William the chauffeur is an ex-convict. Mike and Gay Palmer, his fiancée, are with Aunt Martha when I go searching alone and fall noisily in the Skipper's room.

Chapter 39

The Letters Vanish

IN the darkness I struggled to my knees, listening to rapid feet coming through the bathroom from M. Farrington's room. I was discovered, but I didn't care. Rucking back and forth on my knees, I waited for the light to come through that door and disclose the body of Cook. I almost thought that I could see it in front of me without the light.

The door came open with a bang. Michael stood on the threshold, a heavy silver box raised in his hand as a weapon. At the sight of me, his mouth dropped open. Slowly, fascinated, I swung my eyes down in the path of light streaming through the bathroom door. They encountered an ordinary rag rug, one end of which had been kicked up in the air—in all probability by my own foot. The other end was held firmly to the floor by a leg of the Skipper's bed. Of bodies—or traces of them—there was not a sign.

"What are you doing now?" said Michael blankly.

I was becoming aware of a banged elbow and a baked shin, and I was also conscious of the picture I cut there on my hands and knees.

"Playing posy?" I said. "Any suggestions?"

He stepped over to a stand and switched on a light.

"Are you hurt?" he inquired without too much interest.

I got clumsily to my feet. "I'll barely live."

Michael surveyed me thoughtfully. "Suppose we go into the other room?" he said.

I went. The indignity of my position momentarily seemed more important to me than the mysterious disappearance of Cook. M. Farrington was sitting in a chair, clad in one of her eternal lavender wrappers, sharp eyes on my face. Gay sprawled on the bed, cocked up on one elbow, her attitude thoroughly alert.

I addressed myself to Gay, the least disconcerting of my audience. "Where's Annie?" I said.

But M. Farrington was not to be ignored. "Annie," she exclaimed, "is still looking for the glasses which are over there on the dressing table. Would you mind telling us what you were doing?"

"Someone got to William's room before I did," I said, not pausing to ask whether or not they had told her the whole story. But M. Farrington had been missing no tricks.

"How do you know? Were the letters gone?"

The letters! "No," I said quickly. "Mike has them, haven't you, Mike?" Michael's hands flew to his pockets and on through his vest and trouser pockets.

"Gay has them," he said.

Three pairs of eyes swung to Gay's face. It was blank.

"But I haven't. You have them yourself, Mike. You took them from Jimmie."

There was silence.

"Michael," said M. Farrington crisply, "search the hall. You may have dropped them in your excitement."

It was a forlorn hope, but it was the only one. Mike went on the gallop. M. Farrington took command of the situation.

Higgins' door for the faint sound of his breathing. Cook's door was still closed, but I was taking no chances. I pushed it open and satisfied myself that she had not returned to her room. Then, feeling my way carefully, I started down the back stairs.

The mumble of voices was lower and more indistinct. I could no longer distinguish one from the other, let alone any of the words. Slowly I crept down until the turn of the landing brought me within full view of the kitchen, where I halted, open-mouthed.

William stood at the end of the kitchen table, leaning over talking excitedly to Annie, who was sitting beside him. Beyond them in a capacious rocking chair, her eyes glittering and her large hands clenched tightly in her lap, sat Cook. She was not talking, but she was listening spellbound to the other two.

"Is it proof enough?" I was obliged to exert every ounce of balance I could command to avoid falling over the banisters in my eagerness to hear Annie whisper. "If we were to fall through with this, he could make it awful hot for us. There ain't many jobs, Bill. You'd oughta know that."

William brought his fist down on the table expressively but without sound. "The guys like us is the ones that'll get blamed. It took me three years to learn that. And here's another thing. We got enough evidence on Higgins to send him to the chair tomorrow!"

"You're in a Tight Spot"

AT this moment I leaned too heavily upon the railing. It wasn't a very loud squeak, but William spun around. I tried to flatten myself against the wall, but I had been discovered.

I stuck my hands into my pockets and ambled down the stairs.

"What I'd like to know, William," I said, "is what you just said. Something about evidence against Higgins, wasn't it?"

With a ridiculous pretense of calm, I seated myself on the table, my back to the massive figure of Cook. "If you'll take my tip, William, you'll get the whole story off your chest. What do you know about Higgins?"

He was gripping the table as if he meant to smash it to pieces.

"What makes you think I know anything?"

"You do," I strove to keep my voice level. "You're full of surprises. What, for example, do you know about Higgins that would send him to the chair?"

I patted the fellow. His eyes were bloodshot and his face was drawn.

"You can't prove I said nothing. You can't prove nothing. I ain't going to talk."

I took a long shot in the dark. "As a matter of fact, William," I said, "I can prove several interesting things about you. And it so happens that my evidence is very fine evidence indeed. And it won't do you any good to dispose of me in order to get hold of it."

Cook, I really believe, would have throttled me at that point. If William's arm had not been holding him back into his chair, he drew a long breath.

"All right," he said faintly. "What are you going to do?"

I shoved a chair at him with my foot. "Sit down," I said, "and tell me about it. It's all bound to come out anyway."

He sat heavily. Annie was beginning to cry.

"I been three years in the pen." His voice was slow and dazed. "I was driving for the Blinshops and a ring was pinched. They pinned it on me. The old man felt sorry for me and got me a job here with Miss Barbara. I ain't done a thing—but it's gonna look bad. He was mumbling as if in his sleep, and his voice was weary, hopeless and sick."

"Did anyone but Miss Barbara know about this—anyone in the house, I mean?"

"He shook his head dazedly. "Miss Judith knew."

Jude! It was going to look bad! And yet, if the Skipper had known all about his record, he would have had no reason for leaning toward him. "You know better than I do that you're in a tight spot. Your only way out is to find the guilty man."

Bethany, Mo.—H. A. Cowles of Pleasanton, Ia., bought 80 acres of land at a sheriff's sale. When Cowles was ready to sign the transfer papers, he reached in his pocket and paid Sheriff H. L. McCollum $2,000 in small bills.

Asked why he carried the money instead of writing a check, Cowles pointed to the last line on an advertisement of the sale. It read: "Terms—Cash in hand."

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

Fashion Is Creating Smartness For Forty-ish Figures

Careful Broiling Holds Secret Of A Good Steak

BROILED SIRLOIN STEAK

Steaks are at their best when they are equally broiled on both sides. Twenty minutes will suffice to brown well a medium-thick steak. Ten to 14 minutes will be enough if the steak is to be rare.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE.

Proof of the steak is in the broiling. A perfectly good steak may be ruined with too hasty or too slow grilling.

For when it is broiled too quickly the steak will burn around the edges—if not elsewhere. And when it is cooked too slowly all the juiciness will be withdrawn—leaving the leathery remnant familiar to many a disappointed cook.

Broiled or grilled foods should be placed about five inches below the heat, depending somewhat, of course, on what is to be prepared.

Coordinate Your Cooking.

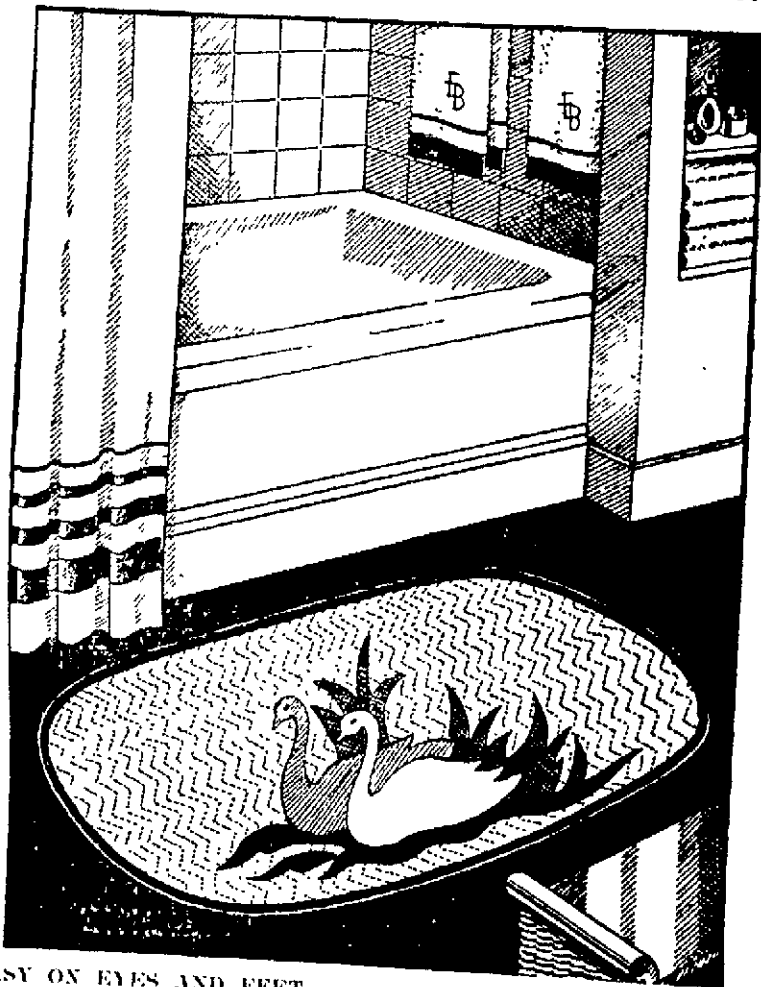

I find that a broiling period of between 15 and 25 minutes is correct for most dishes. With a little experimenting and tabulating I have learned to judge how to coordinate the cooking of various meats and vegetables which I plan to serve. (It's a good idea to make yourself a chart.) Steaks and chops may be placed on a heat-resisting tray or plank and bordered by a colorful array of vegetables such as carrots, potatoes, sliced tomatoes and onions, and broiled for about 20 minutes. During the process they should be basted frequently with the drippings from the meat. And about five minutes before they are due to be done it's a good plan to add a little seasoning. When the steak or chops and their accompanying vegetables are done they may be assembled on a platter and generously garnished with parsley.

Food on Brochette (on skewers) also lends itself to broiling. Alternating slices of boiled sweet potatoes, sliced apples and tiny sausages—dipped in flour and broiled for about 15 minutes—are different enough to be a welcome change in any menu. Mushrooms and ham slices may also be cooked in this manner as may pineapple and veal or lamb squares covered with flour and dipped in melted fat.

Quilted Padding Adapted To Decorative Bath Mats

EASY ON EYES AND FEET

—Applique swans on ready-quilted padding make a mat that will harmonize with the most colorful bathroom.

By ELIZABETH MAY BLONDEL

Prepared by McCall's Magazine For The Freeman

Now the interior decorators have got around to bath mats. With bathrooms being redesigned and made colorful, it was bound to come. Useful and attractive are the new mats in which the ready-mattress protectors and table silencers—cloths are utilized. Applique designs, from swans to morning glories, gracefully repeat motifs of the bathroom decorations. Of course, it is necessary that the applique be of color-fast material. The bath mat has to spend so much time in the laundry. Good quality gingham, chambray, percale or cotton broadcloth should be well adapted to the applique pieces. The fabric is stamped with a hot iron transfer. Patch pieces are basted to the quilting and sewn invisibly by hand around the edges. Sewing cotton the same color as each applique piece should be used. The colors naturally will be decided by the bathroom scheme. Very effective is a white swan in the foreground against a black swan—or a gray one if black is not harmonious. Green foliage forms the background and a deep blue represents the water. The binding may be blue or green.

Quilted padding may be bought by the yard. Or a 34-by-52-inch mattress pad may be used to make two mats, each about 19 by 31. They can be finished in oval or oblong shapes.

Inquiries may be sent to Miss Elizabeth May Blondel, the McCall Corporation, 230 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Tailored For Traveling

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

New York—With women in the news frankly admitting they're forty-ish, fashion focuses its favor on smart vacation wardrobes for the matron.

The travel ensemble (left) includes a navy silk sheer dress and jacket, both trimmed with white silk braid loops at the neck. The hat is of navy silk belting—with a natural straw brim.

Poppies and daisies bloom on a printed afternoon frock (second from left) that's scheduled to make tea-time news. The dress is of white rough silk crepe. The hat is a white straw cartwheel. Brown shoulder cords top the

A shawl, instead of a jacket, adds glamour to the dramatized grass green evening gown of flower-printed silk chiffon (extreme right). The shawl, neckline and hemline all have saw-tooth edging. Several royal purple curled ostrich tips are worn just over the left ear.

Beauty

Permanents Too Costly? Then Shampoo Oftener

SUDS-CHASER

Shampooing at home is made easy by use of the spray. It drives soap out of the hair with scarcely any trouble. Thorough lathering with a soap shampoo, in liquid or jelly form, is very important.

(By AP Feature Service)

Blondes, brunettes and redheads alike are paying more attention to their hair these days. This season's open-crown hats make a faulty coiffure all too conspicuous.

If a new permanent wave is financially out of the question, soap and water will give you glossy locks which, after all, are far more important than curls.

Do It At Home

A leading New York beautician says, "No woman shampoos as often as she should." That's a broad statement, but how many women know shampoo thoroughly every 10 days—or if they have oily hair—every week? Women with dry hair are luckier. Every two weeks will do them because dry hair does not pick up dirt so readily.

Despite the array of gadgets in beauty parlors, you do not need much equipment for a shampoo. Soap, liquid or jelly, plenty of water and, if possible, a spray at the end of a long piece of hose. A shower is a good substitute for a rinsing spray.

Proper Procedure

Wet the hair thoroughly. Then part it in several places, rubbing soap into each part. Don't forget to soap well around the hair line. Combine a scalp massage with the soaping process. Exert pressure with the finger tips and work with a circular motion. After a quick rinse with warm water, lather the hair a second time. Then rinse at least three more times. Most women prefer a warm rinse but many make the final one cold. It is easier to set waves after a cold rinse. Lemon or vinegar rinses are safe. A few drops of either in the final rinse water are enough. Science has no corroboration for the report that lemon is best for blondes, vinegar for brunettes.

A reminder to salt-water bathers: Be sure to rinse the hair in fresh water after a dip in the surf. Sea water dries the hair.

Individual pastry cases should be re-heated before they are served. After they have been stored a day or so they are likely to absorb a little moisture which tends to make them tough. Heating remedies the toughness.

Celery may be plucky if the mid-ribs of an outer stalk feel springy and open when pressed by the thumb.

FASHION FANCIES

New York (AP)—Pastel sweaters and tweed costumes in matching shades are popular for sports wear. Several shops offer tweeds dyed to match the sweaters. Others match skeins of wool to pastel skirts for the home knitter.

New York (AP)—College girls have adopted bodily a type of box jacket popular on men's campuses. They have retained even the left-hand buttoning. The jacket material is heavy white cotton. Large patch pockets are handy for students.

New York (AP)—Race track fashions indicate great interest in shoes of bright-colored leather. Copper and rust shades are particular favorites and bright red and wine are popular. All four provide gay accents for beige costumes.

Paris (AP)—The Marquise Torrigiana has ordered a black broadcloth tailcoat from Lelong for spring. The jacket is trimmed with arabesques of black velvet, edged with white, and has a U-shaped neck opening showing a shirred blouse of white chiffon. The blouse sleeves are long and full and caught into a tight band at the wrist.

New York (AP)—Jackets are definitely a wardrobe necessity for summer. Gay, striped blazer boleros provide color contrast with white costumes. Lace and eyelet jackets are worn over evening gowns. The latest jacket material is velveteen. It comes in rich shades which emphasize one color in a print costume.

Paris (AP)—Heim's "Jeunes Filles" (Young Girls) shop, turns to peasant themes for summer daytime frocks. Printed cottons in bright colors and amusing patterns are proving very popular. The bodices are snug fitting and the skirts full, in typical peasant manner.

Paris (AP)—Lady Mond has ordered several evening dresses from Lelong, all in white. One model is of white and silver brocade with a full skirt. A saw-tooth edging borders the décolleté and small peplum. A white crepe dress and jacket ensemble is embroidered in mother-of-pearl. Gold and jewel-colored stones highlight the third gown, also in crepe. The latter has a tulle jacket studded with jewels and embroidered in gold.

Paris (AP)—Among "Don't-dress-for-dinner" dresses, those informal evening frocks launched by Molyneux, are several of sheer wool crepe by a special twist of the yarns these summer wools are rendered uncrushable. The same twist prevents them from clinging with unwelcome closeness on warm summer days. One afternoon ensemble is made of grege-colored angora wool, faintly shadow-striped.

Helps For Housewives

Dishwashing hints for newlyweds: (1) carefully stack dishes in piles. (2) soak egg and milk dishes and silverware in cold water. (3) rinse sticky and greasy articles with warm water. (4) use plenty of hot water and soap suds. (5) wash glassware first. (6) silverware next. (7) then china and (8) finally, the pans.

The between-meal lunch is advisable for underweight or fast-growing children. It may include graham crackers and milk, fruit, simple cookies and fruit juices. In summer, fresh fruits or egg and milk drinks are suitable.

If chocolate is to be added to frosting it should be cooled and then stirred into the frosting just before it is spread on the cake. Warm chocolate thins frosting. It also "cooks" egg whites in sauces and frostings in which both are used—producing a flecked appearance.

ETIQUETTE

Check List Of Musts
For Nervous GroomsBy JOAN DURHAM,
(A Feature Service Writer.)

For every flustered bride there's an equally flustered bridegroom. Often the feminine members of a bridal party are posted carefully on what is expected of them while the masculine contingent is comparatively uninformed.

Her Husband-To-Be.

In the best regulated weddings these days the bridegroom is responsible for:

Planning the wedding trip and paying for it.
Buying the engagement and wedding rings.
A personal gift to the bride. (Jewelry is preferable.)

Paying the clergyman's fee—from $10 up. The bridegroom puts it in an envelope and instructs the best man to give the envelope to the clergyman just before or immediately after the ceremony.

Paying for bouquets and corsages for the bride, the bride's mother and her mother. Since his boutonniere corresponds to flowers in the bride's bouquet, he may arrange for the too.

Gifts to the best man and the ushers. The best man's gift may be slightly more valuable than the ushers', which should all be alike.

Boutonnieres for the best man and ushers.

Often the bridegroom also provides ties, gloves, collars and spats to insure uniformity among his ushers. However, he may just send each man a detailed list of what he's to wear.

Her Father.

The bride's father is responsible for:

The bride's trousseau (her clothes and the linens, etc., she takes to her new home.)

All wedding expenses except the clergyman's fee—church and home decorations, transportation of the wedding party, wedding breakfast or reception and bridesmaids' bouquets. He takes his daughter down the aisle on his right arm and responds "I do" when the clergyman asked who gives the bride in marriage. Then he joins his wife in the front pew on the left side of the church.

The Best Man.

The best man is expected to:

Take charge of the wedding ring, which he keeps in a waistcoat pocket until he hands it to the bridegroom. Escort the bridegroom to the church—after having helped him to dress.

Take charge of the bride's and the bridegroom's luggage.

See that the bridegroom's "going away" clothes are taken to the bride's house—where bride and bridegroom change after the reception.

Take care of the bridegroom's hat, gloves and stick. Immediately after the ceremony the best man should get them from the vestry rush around the side of the church and give them to the bridegroom.

PATTERN 5578

Years will but add to this cutwork's charm—for its rose "allhouettes" will ever remain as lovely as the day you embroidered them. Here is a pastime both fascinating and profitable, for where is the woman who doesn't long for an abundance of such beautifully adorned linens whether buffet set, scarfs, towels, refreshment sets or doilies? You can make a lovely scarf using the long edge of the larger motif with the center motif of the smaller one on the ends. In pattern 5578 you will find a transfer pattern of a doilie 12 1/2 x 14 inches and two doilies 9 1/2 x 12 inches; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 258 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, May 29.—The opening dance of the season will be held Saturday evening at Colange's Hall. Music will be furnished by a Dunraven, Delaware county, orchestra. The public is cordially invited.

Leland P. Hamilton and family of Oneonta were West Shokan Heights callers Wednesday afternoon while en route home from a trip to the metropolitan area. Mrs. Hamilton sailed for France Tuesday on the liner Lafayette. She will attend an International Rotary Convention and expects to spend about a month on the trip. Mr. Hamilton, who is now serving as the 28th district governor of Rotary Clubs, has traveled over 31,000 miles since taking the office last July. He is president of the Otsego Laundry Co. of Oneonta, also is an active leader in Scouting.

The bear that was lost, strayed or stolen was captured by Judge Lester S. Davis of West Shokan. Mr. Davis had the bear in his possession for several days and it became very much attached to him, and while there the boys that gathered about the store had great sport to see him handle a pack of cards. Its daily food consisted mostly of milk and corn flakes. The owner has been found and the animal has been returned.

This week William Bender completed the shingling of the parsonage roof, which has been in the hang fire stage for some time. The appearance is now decidedly attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Weidner made a trip to Kingston on Thursday.

Farmers have taken full advantage of more favorable weather this week, but field work is again at a standstill due to Friday's rain.

Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenixia was a caller here early this week.

The town shovel is now operating in the John Bell's shale bank on the mountain road.

Phoenixia Post, American Legion, have in accordance with their annual custom placed flags on the soldier graves in the various town of Olive cemeteries.

Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop of Stone Ridge were callers in their native Olive on Monday.

Herbert Hyde is driving a new Oldsmobile town sedan, purchased through the Ashokan agency of Lemuel J. DuBois.

Cornelia Davis spent Thursday evening with Miss Helen Thompson, who is spending a week's vacation here with her grandmother, Mrs. Mae McGreevy.

Mrs. Elwyn Davis celebrated her 46th birthday on Thursday. Congratulations and many happy returns are extended to Mrs. Davis, who entertained a group of friends during the afternoon.

Miss Helen Thompson was a social caller in Kingston on Wednesday evening and visited her roommate, Miss Peggy Winter.

Truckman Cecil Gray of Olive Bridge made a trip here on Thursday.

Mrs. James Burgher of Maple Dell Farm appropriately observed her birthday anniversary on Wednesday. Her many friends extend congratulations.

The west side delegation patronizing the savory Ashokan Church old-fashioned strawberry bliscuit supper Wednesday evening, included Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Avery, Commissioner and Mrs. Claude Bell, Judge and Mrs. Lester S. Davis, Foreman Joe Steinhilf and friend, Gladys Fox. All report enjoying the affair very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross W. Lynn spent last week-end at their Traver Hollow estate.

Community hostesses anticipate a rush of week-end guests, many having made reservations long in advance of Memorial Day.

Sunday morning memorial service will be held at the Olive Bridge Church, in charge of the Rev. Mr. Hewett. Phoenixia Post, American Legion, will be represented at the service. Following at the I. O. O. F. Hall, all war veterans attending will be served luncheon.

ST. JAMES WOMEN HEAR INTERESTING PROGRAM

An outstanding feature of Friday's meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of St. James M. E. Church was the program presented by children of the Kings Herald Band, under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Finch and Mrs. Reynolds Van Keuran, which was as follows:

Piano Solo—Lily Pads Locke

The Rockefeller Myth: Potato Deal Makes Oil King Famous As 'Neighbor John'

By the G.P. Feature Service.

"I've done all the harm I can do in this world. I've done all the good I can do. But I would like to live to be a hundred."—John G. Rockefeller to George N. Rigby, former mayor of Ormond, Fla., Rockefeller's winter home.

The longer Rockefeller lived, the longer grew the Rockefeller legend. He missed his century goal by a little more than two years, and he had been out of the business and financial picture for decades. But the anecdotes, continuing to pile up, guaranteed Rockefeller's place as one of America's most colorful figures.

Potato-made Title.

Rigby, often a guest at Rockefeller's homes, recalls some of the anecdotes that best point up the oil man's character.

The cost of a peck of potatoes helped win Rockefeller his title, "Neighbor John."

"Just a few days after he bought

"Humm—oil! My favorite smell!"

own. Oil, which brought him his fortune, was a favorite subject. Some years ago he and Rigby were sitting on the front porch of his winter home when a town workman began repairing the road. Suddenly the workmen noticed the fumes from the hot asphalt were blowing over the porch. He apologized.

"Rockefeller silenced him," Rigby recalls. "He said, 'Why that's all right Luther—don't you know I like the smell of oil?'"

Not Enough for Heaven.

Once at a Christmas party, says Rigby, Rockefeller presented himself as a newspaper cartoonist had caricatured him. As guests shouted, he tied an oil can to his head and pranced around the room. One guest who took moving pictures destroyed them at Rockefeller's request.

One of Rockefeller's favorite stories concerned a ride he took in New Jersey. The chauffeur stopped at a country filling station and ordered five gallons.

"You ought to get more than five

MISS LILLIAN NEICE OF THE PRUDENTIAL RETIRES

Miss Lillian Neice, for 31 years cashier at the local office of the Prudential Insurance Company, retires from active duty today by accepting a pension under the company's Service Retirement plan.

Miss Neice's services with the Prudential date from June 11, 1906, and she has seen the local office grow from a staff of a few agents and one clerk, to its present size of 58 agents, nine assistant superintendents, and 10 clerks, embracing, in addition to the local office, four branch offices, located at Saugerties, Delhi, Catskill and Margaretville.

Miss Neice was rated as one of the company's most capable cashiers, handling the company's funds, and clerical work with a high degree of efficiency.

As a tribute and token of their esteem, the local staff presented her with a traveling case. The clerical staff presented her with an onyx ring.

Superintendent Rose, the assistant superintendents, and clerical staff gathered at the Governor Clinton Hotel last Saturday afternoon, where a luncheon was served in her honor. Messages of congratulation were received from officers of the company, former Superintendent John E. Maher, and many of her friends and former associates.

Polar Sea Very Deep

Moscow, May 29 (AP)—Soviet Russia's North Pole weather outpost measured the Polar Sea today and found it far deeper than scientists had estimated. The first measurement reported by Dr. Otto J. Mr. Advertiser...

IF YOU ARE NOT BUYING
NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION
BY THE ABC YARDSTICK
YOU ARE BUYING A

PIG in a POKE

BACK in the horse-and-buggy days a popular pastime with advertising media was circulation claims. Advertisers were compelled to accept unverified statements. There was no yardstick by which circulation could be measured. This led to abuses on the part of sellers. Buyers sometimes looked with suspicion on the statements of publishers. They didn't know whom to believe.

Responsible newspaper publishers, realizing that these indiscriminate and careless circulation practices of the few worked a hardship on all, organized an impartial and reliable auditing bureau to check the figures of all publications that met the requirements for membership. The auditing organization was named the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The ABC issues two types of reports—Publisher's Statements and Audit Reports. The Publisher's Statement is sworn to by the publisher, but not audited at the time of release. The Audit Report, issued once a year, either substantiates the Publisher's Statements for the preceding twelve months or points out wherein those statements were wrong.

Today, twenty-eight years after its formation, the Audit Bureau of Circulations is still creditably serving more than 1,000 daily newspapers. Advertisers know that when they read an ABC audit they are reading certified figures. They know, too, that when they place advertising in an ABC newspaper they KNOW HOW MUCH PAID CIRCULATION that newspaper has to offer, and WHERE it is located.

An Audit Bureau of Circulations Audit Report is a dependable, accurate, and honest report of circulation figures. It costs members a large sum of money yearly to maintain the Bureau, yet the Publisher's Statements and Audit Reports verifying these statements are available to advertisers without cost. Although 90% of the cost of operating the ABC is paid by the publisher members (the sellers of advertising), control of the ABC is vested in the advertiser members (the buyers of advertising).

ABC newspapers give advertisers full information upon which advertising money can be spent intelligently. If you are not using ABC reports as a measure of circulation value you are buying a "pig in a poke."

Kyanize Blanks Hedricks, 5-0 Behind Leo Komosa's Pitching

The Kyanize Painters applied their talismanic brushes to Hedricks' bowlers at the Athletic Field, Friday evening, and whitewashed them 5-0. The victory was the first in the City League for the painters and it also marked the first defeat for the Brewers.

Big Boss Leo Komosa wielded the biggest brush. Besides keeping the Brewers away from home plate he permitted only one of them to reach third. He was best in the pinches, his strikeout ball being his best system. In all he fanned 12 of the Brewers, setting a league record for the year. Komosa was very stingy with his hits, allowing but four meagre singles.

Schoolboy Bush opposed Komosa at the start of the game, but failed to go far. His wildness, along with his base-hit balls proved his undoing. The second frame saw his finish. Jack Dodge, veteran of them all, took up where Bush left off and, had he started, the story might have been different. He took up the reins with a runner on second base and from there on kept the Painters away from home plate.

Eight hits were made off the combined pitching, each allowing four. Jack Dodge was responsible for two of the hits. He connected for two doubles to right field, while Gold Rider poked a triple to left field. Other batters to get two hits were Merritt and Debroskie.

The Painters started scoring as early as the first inning. Stumpf was given a free ticket to first base, stole second and went on to third when Lamb let Rider's throw get away from him. Slicker also walked and stole second. Debroskie hit a Texas Leaguer to left field to drive both runners home.

Two runs were enough to win, but the Painters kept pecking at Bush and finally chased him with a three-hit barrage in the second frame. Lamb was given a walk to start the inning. Rider hit his triple at this time and Lamb scored. Merritt singled to left field to score Rider. Merritt then stole second and scored on a double to right field by Slicker.

The Brewers best chance of scoring came in the second inning. Al short drew a pass. He stole second and continued on to third on Berardi's error. But the next two batters left him stranded. They had runners on base every inning, two in the fourth and two in the seventh.

HOT SHOTS
The first section of the bleachers arrived and the fans that arrived early took advantage of them.

Komosa seemed to be toying at times. He would put runners on the path and then throw his strikeout ball.

Both teams played good ball all night. M. Berardi accepted eight out of nine tries.

After looking at Bush's fast ones the Painters were somewhat baffled watching Dodge's hooks.

Kyanize meets Rosendale Tuesday evening.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

The baseball folks in Detroit and Boston should be thankful that Roxie Lawson and Footsie Marcum chose this spring to do their come-backing.

If those two hurling hopefuls hadn't started like a couple of houses afire, the Tigers would be out of the first division, and the Red Sox would be nearly out of the American League, so far as the standings are concerned.

As it is, Lawson already has won as many games as he took all last year, and has been the No. 1 flogger in the Tigers' trek to second place. And Marcum, with five victories to his credit, is the only Red Sox starter with a better than .500 average.

Both of them were disappointing flops a year ago.

At the moment, Lawson is the "workhorse" of the league, with 79 innings on the mound in nine games. He won the only game he failed to finish, and allowed only six hits in the single decision he lost. He has fanned 29 and walked only 33. Yesterday, he was never in trouble as he hurled the Tigers to a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the nightcap of a doubleheader. Detroit also won the first game 6-5 on a homer by Hank Greenberg to climb back into second place.

Marcum has seen 62 innings of action in nine games, and has walked only 17 batters while fanning 23. He muffed the Washington Senators 7-0 with six hits yesterday to put the Red Sox over the .500 mark for the first time in two weeks.

Their work featured a curtailed program in both leagues. Otherwise, the highlight was a 14-hit bombardment the Pittsburgh Pirates exploded on the St. Louis Cardinals for a 10-3 win, thereby stretching the Bucs' National League lead to a game and a half over the idle Giants.

The Chicago Cubs found Cincinnati pitching easy and clubbed out a 12-3 decision behind Charley Root's steady tossing. The rest of the league had an open date.

The Chicago White Sox outlasted the Cleveland Indians and came through with a 3-2 win on Zeke Bonura's timely two-bagger in the tenth inning. The start of the Yankee-Athletic series was delayed a day by rain and was carried over to a doubleheader today.

To Fight A Phantom —By Pap

Someone ought to tell the Madison Square Garden folks that Jimmy Braddock is serious about passing up his June 3 date with Max Schmeling in order to meet Joe Louis later in the month. Maxie really should be told too.

Right now Der Schlager is going through the motions of training at his Spaulding, N. Y., camp. He does road work, punches the bags, mauls spar mates and, appropriately, shadow-boxes several rounds daily. The last chore should fit him for the "big test." He should be ready when the gong sounds for the phantom fight.

Harry Newman, purveyor of publicity for the Garden, goes along grinding out daily bits of copy detailing every move the challenger makes in "preparing."

To add to the goofiness, one of Schmeling's sparring partners is named Stanley Ketchell. Perhaps it is the ghost of the immortal Stanley Ketchell returned to earth to fit the German for his ghost battle with Braddock.

Joe Jacobs insists Maxie looks better than ever. Hits harder, is faster. Boxes better. Stronger, too. In fact Schmeling's manager feels his man is a clinch to stop Braddock.

Maxie himself is much perplexed. He is here to fulfill his part of the contract that calls for a heavyweight title bout with Braddock. He cannot understand why Braddock is ignoring the "scrap of paper." Or how the champion is allowed to pass him up to meet Louis, the man Maxie knocked out.

Schmeling has spent $15,000 trying to meet Braddock. He will spend lots more if he has to. Meanwhile, he is getting in shape. And five days before the date of the scheduled meeting, he will present himself in New York—just as his contract provides.

Altamaris Trim Cornell-Rescue

Last night at Block Park before a crowd the "Mighty Mite," Walt Bigler, led the Altamari Aces to a 7-6 victory over their traditional rivals, the Cornell-Rescue softball players. Finley was the only member of the famous Cornell-Rescue "murderers' row" to solve Walt's delivery. He connected for a homer in the sixth inning. Only one of the other runs was of the earned variety.

Johnny Kosowski, Ken Mencil and Irv Maurer led the Aces' batting attack. Irv Maurer also starred in short field for the Aces, pulling down drives that were labeled as sure hits. Johnny Kosowski received the Mighty Mite's deliveries while Tomshaw and Woods worked for the losers.

Wednesday night at the Hercules diamond the Aces defeated the Ekopu Bears 8-0, with the Mighty Mite twirling true to form.

Sunday afternoon at the Athletic Field the Aces tangle with Art Kaplan's Appleknockers.

Record Field For Golf

New York, May 29 (AP)—A record field of links hopefuls will compete Tuesday in one of golf's toughest tests, a grueling effort in which not one in ten can hope for success. It is the sectional qualifying tournament of the National Open Championship and the United States Golf Association announced today that the entry list had reached an all-time high of 1,404.

Home Leaders Will Play Huron Indians At Stone Ridge

The "Home Leaders" baseball team will on Sunday afternoon invade Stone Ridge to do battle with the Huron Indians, on the latter's own hunting grounds. Manager Baumgarten's warriors have been very successful so far this season in scalping the enemy and intend to add the Bakers to their list. But the way the "Leaders" have shown up this season presages a hard fight for the Indians. Big Chief Liever will in all probability be Manager Baumgarten's choice for the hurling honors with Lapolt doing the catching. The Bakers will use Walter Gadi, Herb Van Dusen and Al Flanagan in the outfield. In the infield will be J. Dulin, S. Ditzik, Bob Purvis and "Flash" Minasian. There are four hurlers to choose from, Mische, Uhl, Mahar and Huber. "Homer" Kelly will catch.

The Stone Ridge fans are all set to see their favorites go on the warpath against the Bakers, and all indications point toward a record crowd. The opening gun is scheduled for 2:15 o'clock.

All Grunenwald players are expected to meet at the Athletic Field at 1:30 o'clock.

COCHRANE SHOWS

New York, May 29 (AP)—Definite improvement was noted today in the condition of Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers, who suffered a skull fracture when he was struck by a ball pitched by Bump Hadley of the Yankees.

A morning bulletin signed by Drs. Byron Stookley and Robert E. Walsh said:

"Cochrane had a goodnight. Condition satisfactory and has made some progress."

Mrs. Cochrane and Walter O. Briggs, Jr., son of the Detroit Club owner, were permitted a brief chat with Cochrane yesterday. They reported he seemed cheerful and mentally alert and showed considerable interest in hearing how the Tigers were doing.

MUNN IN LINKS TOURNAMENT

Sandwich, Eng., May 29 (AP)—The smallest gallery at a British amateur golf championship final in many years saw tall Bob Sweeney, American-born Londoner, jump into a three up lead over Colonel Munn, middle-aged Irishman, after only four holes of play today.

The day was perfect but Munn, usually very jovial, looked tired. He hacked into the long grass to lose the first hole.

After halving the second, the 25-year-old Sweeney captured the third hole, sinking a 25-footer for a deuce. He also took the fourth with a single putt of 18 feet as Munn's report game continued weak.

The Londoner's victory would give America technical claim to Great Britain's most coveted golf crown. Although Sweeney has spent most of his life on this side of the Atlantic.

PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY BAPTIST CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue is rushing plans ahead for its three act comedy, "Smile a While," which will be given in the church hall on Wednesday evening, June 2. The curtain will rise at approximately 8:15.

Besides possessing an interesting plot in this show, there are numerous incidents where the subtle acting of Elizabeth Heaps as Mrs. Marian Pratt; Ernie Tiger as a snubbing society debutante; Pollyann Smith taking care of Boss Haley notably and smart antics by Jack Morton, Edward Safford, Harold Canfield and Charles Gumaer, will certainly retain the watchful eye of the audience. Then too Parthenia Leckie, portrayed by Edith Jacob, will add the extra color to an already talented aggregation of amateur, but well played parts of various characters.

At a recent rehearsal of the cast the business manager announced that over 100 tickets had been sold with plenty of reservations still being requested. However, the church hall in the Albany avenue place of worship is unusually large and each and every ticket purchased will be assured of a seat. Tickets may be procured from any member or by attending special committee: Helen Bates, Doris Harvey, Evelyn Jones, Francis Sckerritt or Irwin Thomas.

Roundabout Information

Education Board Plans Program

the largest improvement programs recommended to the board in several years and Trustee Katz said the work might cost $25,000 or more if all was done. This could be more definitely ascertained by calling for bids for major items and then the board could scale down the work, making most important changes, if the amount was too great to be paid for out of the budget now.

Report in Detail

The report of the inspection of the Building Committee and the recommended work as contained in Trustee Feeney's report follows:

School 2

Install fire tower west end of building.
Point up brick outside of building.
Install fire doorways on all doors leading to West Chestnut street steps and landings.
Install panic bolts on two single doors at foot of steps south side of building.
Install red exit lights over all exits.

Install sanitary drinking fountains, doors in fire room to swing out and to be equipped with panic bolts.
Install a new floor in Miss Stanbrough's class room. Double doors leading from this room to West Chestnut street to swing out and to be equipped with panic bolts. Door in same room leading to yard to be equipped with panic bolts.
Rethub boiler.

One door in each room to be bricked up.
Other door each room to be repaired or renewed and to swing out, doors to be equipped with panic bolts.
Cut door between classrooms upstairs.
All blackboards to be repainted two coats.

School 3

WPA project for yard. We must secure fence for new wall.
Install panic bolts on all exit doors now without same.

Install sanitary drinking fountains.
Paint music room and divide same to exclude storage of supplies.
Renew floors in Seventh and Eighth grade rooms.

Seal window in Eighth grade behind piano.
Extend platform Eighth grade to side wall.

Shift one toilet to teachers' room.
Install a fire door in main hall at entrance to basement.

Install a pipe support under both ends of steel stairway side pieces where they land on the first floor.
Suspend asbestos platform from ceiling of first room.

Fire tower contract is awarded.
Suggest possibility of having Chambers street closed from Thomas property line to St. Mary's street, and graded as W. P. A. project for playground.

Erect fence on Newkirk avenue wall (WPA project) and fence on Chambers and St. Mary's streets.

School No. 4

Renew floors in Rooms 1, 2, 3, 4.
Install sanitary drinking fountains.

President Schmid stated that in his opinion all school grounds should ultimately be fenced in and Trustee Walter approved the suggestion. It was the contention of the board that hazard would be eliminated and it was reported that several very narrow escapes from serious injury had been reported to school children who dashed out in front of cars in the congested area. The lack of this condition at No. 7, where the grounds are fenced in, was called to the attention of the board. At No. 7 one hazard exists at the Crown street terminal, where busses constantly come and go.

Trustee Hutton suggested that the cost of the fences might be cut considerably by substituting a five foot fence instead of the seven foot fences now being used.

After the report had been discussed, Judge Hasbrouck moved its adoption.

Trustee Feeney prior to the adoption of the report said that the committee had made a very minute inspection of the schools, that there was much work which should be done but it was felt that such work

Steel Strike Brings New Members To Union

Union leaders reported that the middle western steel strike had resulted in increased recruiting of members by the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee. Here a group of workers sign membership cards in Canton, O.

as painting interiors, etc., might be delayed to give way to more serious matters such as preventing accidents and eliminating fire hazards.

"I know I would feel terrible if we had a fire and a couple of children were burned because of lack of proper fire protection," said Mr. Feeney.

To Solicit Bids.

The building committee was empowered to solicit bids for the larger jobs and will report back at another meeting as to costs. How much of the work will be done now depends upon the cost.

President Schmid commended the Building Committee on its thorough report and said that much time had been spent in making the inspection for he had been permitted to go along at the time and there was not a cupboard, closet, or garret which the committee had not inspected in the schools.

Plans Advanced

On the discussion of the report of the special committee appointed to investigate crowded conditions in schools and suggest some relief, there were numerous plans advanced. One was the erection of a temporary building one story high on the grounds of No. 6, another was that temporary quarters be hired in the vicinity of Nos. 6, 7 and the high school until such time as the city could afford a construction program on a permanent basis. Another was the erection of a building which could house the eighth grade students from the crowded schools now and later be developed into a permanent junior high school structure. A building of such type as might be planned for the future and added to from time to time as required was suggested.

Judge Hasbrouck suggested that the solution might be erection of a building for the 8th graders and for the high school overflow but he said no such building could be erected by fall and the problem was in need of immediate solution for next fall. He suggested that a building near No. 7 might be rented. In fact he said he had talked with the owner of such a building and has been assured it could be rented.

An additional building at No. 6 and the redistricting of No. 6 and No. 5 districts he said had been discussed but this would require a building program and involve a considerable expenditure. A temporary structure one story high on the No. 6 grounds as a temporary relief measure to be torn down when a permanent building could be financed he said was another suggestion. Such a temporary building might relieve the immediate need until a permanent 8th grade or junior high school building could be financed and constructed. It was believed the high school students could be cared for temporarily until a building program of a permanent nature was entered into.

Junior High School

One suggestion was that when a permanent building was undertaken that it be of such nature as to become a part of a junior high school project when the city feels it can afford such a plan.

Judge Hasbrouck suggested that the financing could be done perhaps by including each year in the budget a sum of money which would not burden the taxpayers and eventually a proper building could be completed.

Trustee Lane suggested that perhaps the vocational school plan might be one solution. He said there were many boys who now attend school who never intend to continue on to high school but were compelled to attend school until they were 16 years old. These boys could be placed in a vocational school and acquire some trade or vocation and at the same time grade schools would be relieved.

Trustee Feeney said the committee had talked over the vocational training school plan and this might be undertaken in the near future. This was one of the matters which would be taken up with the mayor and the common council.

Trustee Hutton suggested that perhaps the present manual arts building at the rear of the high school might be made into an annex to the high school and a cheaper building erected for the arts courses. He said he understood that six rooms might be constructed on each of the two floors at a comparatively small cost and the school workers could be housed in a cheaper, factory type building. If this building adjacent to the high school could be remodeled at a minimum of cost and on the construction program a manual arts building could be placed and erected at a low cost, he suggested this be considered.

"For the manual arts we don't need an elaborate building with all of the embellishments and refinements," he said, and he suggested a cheap type of factory construction. It was stated that while the exterior of the building resembled the high school architecture and appeared good, the interior was not fitted up, it was not finished inside except that portion used by the home-making department. President Schmid said the building was not plastered but it might be converted at a very low cost.

Another Idea.

Trustee Feeney then advanced another idea which he said would take care of two needs. He suggested that a parcel of ground be purchased for an athletic field and on a portion of that lot a vocational training school might be erected also, one with a saw-tooth roof, one which would not have to resemble any adjacent type of architecture. He said he thought if a long range program was to be considered that it would be proper to include this year in the budget a fund for the purchase of this tract of land for an athletic field and as a site for a future vocational school. As the city grows he said this tract of land would prove necessary for expansion of the school system.

Asked where the land was he smiled and said it was a level tract of 12 acres which could be bought now for $10,000 and the owner was willing to sell with a down payment of about $2,500 this year and annual payments of a similar sum until the property was paid for. Interest he said would be low, about 3 per cent.

The Building Committee was authorized to meet with the mayor and common council and talk over the various plans and attempt to lay out some long range plan for the future as well as meet the present emergency and then report back to the board.

Routine business was transacted by the board. All members except Trustee Remmert were present.

Authority was given to employ an auditing firm to close the books at the end of the school year and provide an audit.

The Rules Committee moved that when the board adjourns it do so to meet on June 18, prior to school's closing. The school calendar, found elsewhere, was adopted.

Trustee Katz moved that the Supplies Committee be empowered to purchase text books direct from the publisher.

Wall Project Rejected

A communication was received and read stating that application for laying of a wall along Hudson street at School No. 2 as a PWA project had been rejected as the contributions do not tally with requirements now in vogue. This was one of several projects which were submitted. The letter referred to submission of the No. 2 work as of last November. Since then the work has been re-submitted as a part of a more extensive project which includes work at No. 3 school and the high school and the work at No. 3 and the high school has been approved. Superintendent Van Ingen said that perhaps the No. 2 work had been approved along with the work at No. 3 and the high school and the rejection was still in the PWA files. The matter will be taken up and the status of the No. 2 wall job learned.

In the event the No. 2 wall is not included as a PWA project Trustee

Feeney said he would suggest that the work be done by the Board of Public Works since the condition now existing along No. 2 school off Hudson street was created by work done by PWA in carrying through Hudson street and was not created by work undertaken by the Board of Education.

Bids for paper, general supplies and library books were opened. On motion of Trustees Hutton the bids were awarded to the low bidder, Livingston and LeFever were awarded the paper contract for the sum of $1,310.43. William O'Reilly received the contract for general supplies for the sum of $2,404.80 and Smith's Book Store, library books for the sum of $1,051.30. It was moved that since the board had not done business with the later firm before that a bond in the sum of $1,000 for faithful performance of the contract be required.

Bids submitted were:
Livingston & LeFever, paper $1,310.43.
William O'Reilly, paper $1,311.21; general supplies $2,404.80, library books $1,067.19.

Smith's Book Store, library books $1,051.30.
Hardenbergh Co., general supplies $2,405.00.

Judge Hasbrouck suggested that since two of the bids were so close the work be split between the two low bidders. Trustee Hutton asked where that would lead and what margin of difference should be to warrant a split of a contract. He said he felt the low bidder should have the entire job. Judge Hasbrouck said he was not making the point with any great degree of seriousness.

Bills amounting to $7,025.04 were ordered paid and the May payroll amounting to $37,350.84 was audited and ordered paid.

All Day Convention

Memorial Day

An all-day convention will be held at the Church of the Nazarene on Memorial Day, Monday, May 31. The first service will begin at 10:30 a. m., then at 3 p. m. the second service, and concluding with a night service at 7 p. m. Each service will be opened with special music and singing from the out of town delegates, and an orchestra of around 20 instruments will accompany. This convention is in charge of the New York and New Jersey Young People and Sunday school departments. A few of the special numbers will include a piano accordion number, quartet from Dauer will sing. Also a paper "sand-tray" talk which will be very interesting. There will be many more numbers which will be worth while to hear.

There will be a Radio Gospel Singing, Leslie Strathern, who will be the special singer.

The Rev. Ray Cantrell will bring the message in each service and he will also continue each night of the week, closing on Sunday night, June 6. All are welcome.
